

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Presented to me in August, 1906, by Mr. W. Breckenridge of St. Louis, who had secured a copy from the author. From Mr. Spielman's letter Mr. Breckenridge is learned that the author had press at his house, set up the book, with the aid of boys, printed the edition of 700 copies, of which some 600 were taken by artists interested, and "read 5 pieces" to quote Spielman. He had advertised to sell it at 25¢ a copy, and did so, but it grew on his hands that it made him no money. The author lived in 1906, was Dungen, Illinois.

Carper of New York priced it in 1906, at $3.50 in Mercantile Library of St. Louis in 1906 paid for it is scarce at all counts.

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the fresh air. It felt like I had been in a cocoon for weeks. The ground

MEMORIAL COLLECTION

PREFACE.

This little work was undertaken without any model before the mind of the Author which it was his intention accurately to follow.

The object was to prepare a brief outline history of those in Butler Grove Township who had passed the age of fifty years.

Such a sketch was desired as would preserve to posterity the date and place of birth, the different residences, the time and place of marriage, names of children etc, of those who had reached the age above mentioned.

As we advanced with the work, other ideas than our original ones presented themselves, and as a consequence the narratives in the latter part of the book are a little more full than those at the commencement.

In such a multiplicity of dates, gathered from such a multiplicity of sources, notwithstanding great care has been taken, we can scarcely believe that these sketches will be free from all mistakes. We have inserted four pages of blank ruled paper in order that any additional remarks may be made, or any mistakes corrected with a pen.

That these brief sketches may assist in keeping fresh the memories of parents, and cherishing their names when they sleep in the dust is the fond hope of your sincere friend,

T. E. SPILMAN.

DEDICATION.

To the children of those whose histories are herein briefly given are these Sketches respectfully and prayerfully dedicated.

“Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.”

REV. JOHN HAMILTON

was born Soudersburg, Lancaster Co. Penn. May 24th, 1803.

When a child his parents moved to Marietta in the same Co. Here, while quite young, John made a profession of religion uniting himself with the Lutheran Church. Here also he prepared himself for the Gospel Ministry, and entered upon the labors of the sacred office in 1826, engaging in missionary work in the western part of Penn. After laboring on this field for about a year he went to Virginia where he spent another year in missionary labors. He then returned to Penn. still continuing his missionary work.

On the 8th of Sept. ,1828, he was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth Vondersaal near Shippensburg Penn. After marriage he had a call to a church in Virginia, in Shenandoah Co. where he labored for five years. From there he was called to a church in Hardy Co. of the same State where he preached for a little over two years. From here he removed to Stark Co. Ohio about the year 1841, and took charge of four congregations known as West Brookfield, Bethlehem, West Lebanon and Richville. He remained with this charge about nine years, and then in Lancaster Ohio took charge of two congregations, one in the city, the other in the country.

In 1853 he was elected Grand Master of the Odd Fellows, and traveled and lectured in the interests of the Lodge for one year. Then he was elected Grand High Priest of the Encampment in which capacity he served the Order for one year.

After this he returned to his Homestead in Stark Co. Ohio, and took charge of eight or nine congregations.

In about eight years he changed his place of residence to Medina Co. and continued his labors on this extensive field about five years longer, and until he had succeeded in forming these churches into smaller charges. He then removed to Wyandott Co. Ohio where he preached about two years. Resigning this charge he returned to Stark Co. Ohio and took charge of what was called Stanza's Church. After preaching here for a year or two he received a call to a church in Mendon Ill. about 1867. He took charge of this field and labored, there over four years. From there, in 1874 he came to Butler and took charge of what are known as the Ware,s Grove and St. John's Churches, upon which fields he is now laboring in the 51st year of his ministry.

At the same time in which Mr. Hamilton studied Theology he studied Medicine, and at Shippensburg, about the time of his marriage he was licensed to practice medicine, which practice he followed up in connection with his ministerial labors until the condition of his health required him to relinquish a part of his work, and in choosing between the care of the body and the care of the soul, he devoted his remaining strength to the care of souls.

Father Hamilton's life has been an exhibition of mental and physical strength, and an example of activity and industry.

REV. J. LIVENGOOD was born July 11th, 1814, in Honeybrook Township, Chester County, Penn. His father dying when he was but two years old, he continued to reside with his mother, and sisters till about seventeen years of age, when the family removed to Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, Penn.

Here he was engaged in various secular pursuits, but mostly in teaching school, untill he was about twenty three years of age.

At this time he became impressed that it was his duty to prepare himself for a wider sphere of usefulness, and under this impression he repaired to Pennsylvania College with a view to studying for the Gospel Ministry.

Here, having attended a regular course of catechetical instruction he was received into the church by the sacred ordinance of Baptism, and thus assumed the solemn obligations of the Christian life ; and he humbly trusts that the vows which he then assumed have neither been forgotten nor their claims disregarded.

His College course occupied about four years.

Early in the spring of 1841 he bid adieu to his Alma Mater, and set out for the state of Ohio.

Arriving at Canal Dover, he took up his abode with the Rev. J. B. Reck, Lutheran Pastor at that place, for whom he preached occasionally, and under whose supervision he read Theology until the meeting of the English Lutheran Synod of Ohio, which convened in Bucyrus, Crawford County in the Autumn of 1841, at which time and place he received license to preach the gospel. And in two years from that time, at the meeting of the same synod in Wooster, Wayne County, he was ordained to the work of the Holy Ministry.

His ministry embraces a period of over thirty six-years.

His first charge was at Tiffin City, Ohio, and occupied nearly nine years.

His second charge was at Findlay, Hancock County, Ohio, and occupied about four years.

In the Autumn of 1854 he removed to the State of Illinois and located at Hillsboro, Montgomery County, where he assumed charge of four congregations, viz: at Hillsboro, Litchfield, St. John's, and at Ware's Grove. At the end of seven years he resigned his charge at Hillsboro ; at the end of nine years, he resigned at Litchfield and the following year he gave up St. John's. This charge of four congregations being so large, and the fields so far apart, the work was necessarily very laborious. It is now divided into three pastorates, and served by three pastors.

In the spring of 1865 he located on a farm in the vicinity of Ware's Grove and continued to serve the church at that place some nine years longer making his entire ministry in that congregation over nineteen years. After resigning at Ware's Grove he served the Mt. Zion congregation, in Roundtree Township, about two years.

On account of certain physical disabilities he is compelled to desist for the present, from the active duties of the Ministry, which he deeply regrets.

In the month of Oct. 1842 the subject of this sketch was united in marriage with Miss Amanda Mary Beyer of Shanesville, Tuscarawas County, Ohio.

MRS. AMANDA M. LIVENGOOD, only daughter of John and Elizabeth Beyer and wife of Rev. J. Livengood, was born Jan. 12th, 1822 at Shanesville, Ohio, where she lived until her marriage Oct, 1842 in the 21st year of her age.

Mrs. Livengood made a profession of religion at Shanesville, Ohio at about eighteen years of age and united with the Lutheran Church.

She holds her membership at the present time in the Church at Ware's Grove.

In the 24th year of his age he was united in marriage with Miss Susan Fuller of East Fork, about ten miles South East of Hillsboro.

The officiating minister was Rev. T. A. Spilman, the father of the writer of these sketches.

In the year 1858 Mr. Seward made a profession of religion and united with the Presbyterian Church of Butler.

the age of twenty seven years, near Butler Ill. with Miss Unity Phillips, daughter of Captin Thomas Phillips who recently died in Hillsboro, Ill.

One incident, or accident in the life of Mr. Seward is remembered with interest by his friends.

It was his lot in his younger days to be mail carrier for several years on the lines between Hillsboro and Jacksonville and Hillsboro and Alton.

During that time there came a freshet which raised the waters of Shoal Creek to an immense height. George attempted to cross the stream with a two-horse conveyance. A part of the bridge being gone he was carried away by the current. He got out of the carriage, stepping on one of the horses, and caught hold of a small Elm tree which he, after becoming wet nearly all over, climed, and in the branches of which he remained until the next day.

It was about one o'clock in the afternoon, and in the month of Dec., when he took refuge in the tree. It was a little after dark when his friends discovered him.

The stream was now about three fourths of a mile wide, and the current baffled their efforts to get to the tree. The logs which were carried down the stream would strike the slender tree and partially dislodge him.

He could see and hear his friends from his lonely perch, which probably helped to beguile the uncomfortable hours of the night; but it was not until about 9 o'clock in the morning that with a horse trough and poles they succeeded in reaching and rescuing him.

Mr. Seward has never lived else whers than in Montgomery Co., and has been for thirty two years upon the farm where he now resides.

Mrs. Dryer made a profession of religion in Warren Co. Penn., when about thirteen years of age, but did not connect herself with any church until after her removal to Hillsboro, Ill., where, at the same time with her husband, she united with the M. E. Church.

During his residence in Butler Mr. Washburn has been engaged a portion of his time in the shoe-maker's trade and as a Boot & shoe merchant, but of late years has been engaged in farming.

At about thirty-one years of age, while in De Peyster N. Y., Mr. Washburn made a profession of religion and united with the Congregational Church.

Mr. Washburn has in his possession several interesting relics.

One, a long barreled gun with which his Uncle, Wm. Washburn, shot a panther in Macomb, N. Y.

Another, an officer's sword owned by his Grandfather, Captain Washburn, and carried by him in the war of 1812.

A third consists of several bones found in the earth in digging a cellar in Macomb, N. Y. The bones have the appearance of those of a human being, and were found in an erect posture. The skull bone is exceedingly flat, having but very little elevation above the eyes.

Efforts have been made in vain to find a race of human beings, now living, with a skull corresponding to this relic.

The place from which it was dug is supposed to have been covered at one time with fortifications of war.

On the 10th of June 1829, Mrs. Ware, with her husband, removed to the farm upon which she now resides with her son Justus, two miles N. E. of Butler upon a handsome elevation of land known as "Ware's Grove." On this farm Mrs. Ware has lived for forty-nine years.

A BRIEF HISTORY
OF THE
VILLAGE OF BUTLER.

In gathering up the scraps of history contained in the following pages we have been obliged to rely largely upon the memories of persons who have been long residents of the community. Some of the dates, therefore, which we give may be only approximates to truth; some names may be omitted, and some facts not accurately recorded. Yet, with the pains which we have taken to secure accuracy, we believe that following statements may be relied upon as an outline history free from any serious error.

The Village of Butler derived its name from the fact that many of its earliest settlers came from Butler County, Ohio.

The Village was built upon land belonging to William Seward, and laid out by him about the year 1855.

In the first survey, which was by James Starr, eighty-six lots were laid out. Some time afterward the most of the remaining lots which constitute the Village were surveyed by a Mr. Bayless.

The town was incorporated about the year 1865.

The first School-house built in the District was of logs, and built in 1849, near the residence of Geo. Seward. It was afterwards purchased by Dennis Crowley, removed to the village, and now constitutes a part of his residence.

The first School-house erected in the village, was built about the year 1857, by John H. McGowan. About eight years afterward an addition was made to it so that it consisted of two rooms.

When there were more pupils than could be accommodated in these two rooms, the deficiency was met by securing a private room for a portion of the school until the year 1863, when, at the cost of about $10.000 the present neat and commodious building was erected, which is free from debt.

We give below, according to the best of our information the names of those who have taught school in the Village of Butler.

We have not attempted to fix upon the dates of the service of those who taught in the earlier history of the Village, but give names as we have received them from those who are familiar with the history of the place.

FIRES.

In 1866 a Store belonging to J R. Roth, near the Rail Road, and also an adjacent Drinking Saloon, were destroyed by fire.

A Plaining Mill, located in the western part of the town belonging to D.W. Manners was burned about the year 1867. It had been in operation about one year.

In the Spring of 1875 a small dwelling house belonging to Wm. Vansandt near Robert Bryce's Blacksmith Shop was destroyed by fire.

Concerning a destructive fire in the early part of Oct. 1877 we copy the following minute from the Revised Village Ordinances of Dec. 1877.

“On the night of the first, or morning of the second October 1877, a fire broke out in the Buildings adjoining Seward’s Hall and continued its destructive work until all the Buildings and the Hall containing all the Village records, papers and other property belonging to the Village were consumed by the devouring element against all the efforts made to save them.”

On the 31st of Oct. 1877, the private dwelling of Charles Casselberry in the north-western part of the town was destroyed by fire.

The only Firms engaged in General Merchandise in Butler at the present time, (Sept. 1878) are those of Brown & Bro., and McGowan & Watkins.

George W. Brown commenced business as a Grocery & Queens-ware merchant in Butler, in the building known as Haywood’s Old Stand, in April 1867. In a few months he and his brother, Charles O. Brown, entered into partnership constituting the Firm known as Brown & Bro. In the early part of the year 1869 Brown & Bro. purchased the Haywood building, at that time belonging to Moses Berry, and continued to do business in it until 1873. In 1871 they added to their Stock Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes. In May 1873 they purchased what was called the McReynolds property nearly opposite the Butler Hotel, and in Sept. of the same year moved their goods to this building, adding to their stock Ready made Clothing. They have recently enlarged, remodeled and repainted this Store, adding much both to its convenience and appearance.

J. H. McGowan commenced business in Butler as a Merchant with Samuel Haywood in the year 1865. He was associated with Mr. Haywood for about one year. During this year he was appointed Post Master. After dissolving partnership with Mr. Haywood he clerked a year or two for the Firm of A. B. Seward & Co., keeping the Post Office in their Store. He then removed to the small building south of the Hotel owned by Thomas Colvin, and now used as an Office by A. W. Marshall, Justice of the Peace. Here he kept the Post Office, Stationary, School Books &c., until about the year 1867, when he built the house north of the Hotel now used as a Shoe & Harness Shop, to which he removed the Post Office and his merchandise. In this building he remained until he entered into partnership in 1872 with Thomas J. Watkins.

Thomas J. Watkins and George Mackey commenced business as General Grocery Merchants in Butler, in the Spring of 1866, occupying the building belonging to L. D. Washburn, and standing a little to the south of the residence of C. O. Brown.

T. J. Watkins continued in business with George Mackey about one year, but a portion of this time he spent working at the carpenter's trade. He then clerked for the Firm of S. M. Hedges & Bro., for about five years, with the exception of a few months, during which time he sold goods for A. B. Seward & Co.

In the Spring of 1872 he and J. H. McGowan bought out the Firm of Hedges & Bro. and formed a partnership in General merchandise, under the name of McGowan & Watkins, and have ever since occupied the building formerly owned by Hedges & Bro. J. H. McGowan still remains Post Master, and has the Office in this building.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

About the year 1868 a Baptist Church, consisting of about thirteen members, was organized in Butler, by Rev.——Johnson, and enjoyed for a time the ministerial labors of Rev. Mize, then teaching school in Butler.

No efforts, of which we are aware, have been made for some years to revive or retain the organization.

We give as, follows, a brief account of the other Churches in the Township, outside of the Village.

CHERRY GROVE M. E. CHURCH.

We find that as early as the year 1843, there was existing a church with a considerable membership in the community now called Cherry Grove, three and a half miles N. W. of Butler. Just what its membership was, and how long it had existed as a Church we have not ascertained. But from some cause, probably deaths and removals, this Church so declined that in a few years there remained of it but a feeble remnant. About the year 1852 it was reorganized, and probably for the first time, elected regular Trustees, and assumed the name of Cherry Grove Church.

The following, so far as we are able to give them, are the names of those who assumed the responsibilities of membership at the re-organization:

John Nail, Mrs. Martha Nail, Nathan Nail, Mrs. Sarah Nail, Mrs. Susan Williams, Anderson Walker and wife, Menassah Camp and wife, Wm. Williams and wife, James Roberts and wife and Mrs. Sarah Baker.

The congregation, in an early day, worshiped in a private dwelling house upon the farm now belonging to D. C. Burris. The building now known as Cherry Grove Church was erected about the year 1856.

MONTGOMERY M. E. CHURCH.

five miles north of Hillsboro, and about the same distance N. E. of Butler, was organized in the year 1836, and consisted of the following members:

James Osburn and wife, Michael Webber, Mrs. Sarah Webber, Henry Nichols, Mrs. Ellen Nichols, Joseph Webber, Mrs. Eunice L. Webber, James Wiley, Mrs. Sarah Wiley, Nicholas Webber and wife, Allert Dryer and Mrs. Eunice L. Dryer.

The Church was organized under the pastoral labors of Rev. —Hale.

For some years the congregation worshiped in a School House. The neat and comfortable Church Edifice in which they now worship was built in the year 1872. The dedication sermon was preached by Rev. C. P. Baldwin.

WARE'S GROVE CHURCH.

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of Ware's Grove was organized Dec. 24th, 1860 under the pastoral labors of Rev. J. Livengood.

The names of the original members are as follows:

Jacob W. Scherer, Mrs. Electa Scherer, Henry Misenheimer, Mrs. Rachel Misenheimer, Mrs. Mary Scherer, Mrs. Rebecca A. Cress.

The Church Edifice in which the congregation now worships was built in 1862, and dedicated in Dec. of the same year, the dedication sermon being preached by Rev. George A. Bowers.
